World Cepelinai Day – February 12

Anyone who knows a Lithuanian probably knows about cepelinai. Although cepelinai are arguably the most recognizable staple of Lithuanian cuisine, ethnologists say they are a fairly recent invention and were established in Lithuanian cuisine only after the Second World War.

After the War

After making history in Lithuania by finding the long-sought 1918 Lithuanian Independence Act, Liudas Mažylis, a chemistry doctor by first profession, who became a professor of political science and an avid history enthusiast, is a member of the European Parliament's group of the European People's Party.
